

PRF: The Future of Regenerative Aesthetics

Platelet-Rich Fibrin (PRF) is an advanced regenerative therapy derived from your own blood. It promotes skin rejuvenation, collagen production, and natural healing.

PRF contains a high concentration of growth factors, white blood cells, and fibrin, making it more powerful than traditional PRP treatments.

The Science Behind PRF

1

Blood Draw

A small amount of blood is collected from the patient.

2

Centrifugation

Blood is spun at a lower speed to separate PRF without anticoagulants.

3

Fibrin Matrix

PRF forms a gel-like matrix, releasing growth factors for up to 10 days.

4

Application

Injected into targeted areas or used with microneedling for skin regeneration.

PRF vs. PRP: Key Differences

Feature	PRF (Platelet-Rich Fibrin)	PRP (Platelet-Rich Plasma)
Centrifuge Speed	Lower speed (preserves more growth factors)	Higher speed (may lose regenerative properties)
Anticoagulants	No anticoagulants (natural clotting occurs)	Uses anticoagulants (prevents clotting)
Growth Factor Release	Slow release (up to 10 days)	Fast release (few hours)
Longevity	More prolonged healing effects	Shorter duration of benefits

Benefits of PRF in Aesthetics

1

100% Natural

No synthetic additives, just your body's own healing factors.

2

Longer-Lasting Results

Gradual collagen stimulation with extended growth factor release.

3

Improves Skin Quality

Reduces fine lines, wrinkles, and skin laxity.

4

Safe & Biocompatible

No risk of allergic reactions since it comes from your own blood.

Uses of PRF in Aesthetic Medicine

Under-eye Rejuvenation

Reduces dark circles, hollowness, and crepey skin.

Facial Rejuvenation

Improves texture, elasticity, and fine lines.

Hair Restoration

Stimulates dormant hair follicles and promotes new growth.

Scar Treatment

Speeds up healing and minimizes scarring.

Why PRF is the Future

Long-Term Skin Health

Focuses on sustainable results rather than temporary fixes.

True Tissue Regeneration

Stimulates collagen and elastin production naturally.

Gold Standard

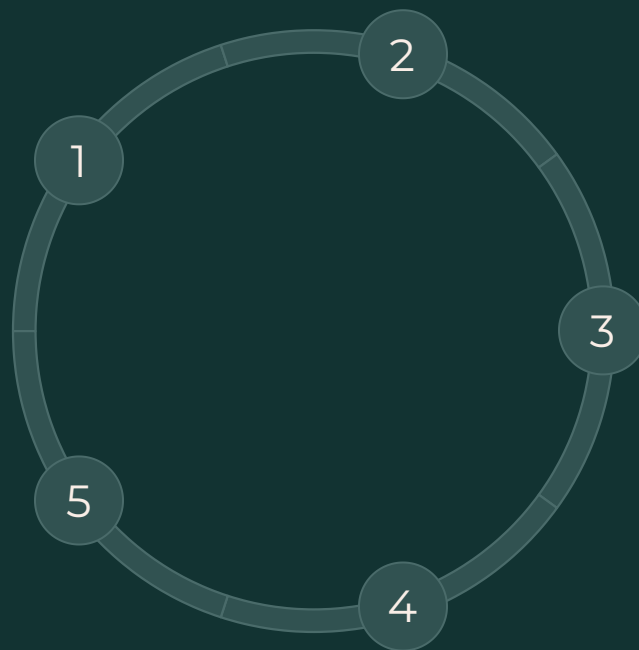

Becoming the preferred choice in natural anti-aging treatments.

Unlike dermal fillers, which add volume artificially, PRF works with your body's natural processes.

Ideal Candidates for PRF

Natural Anti-Aging
Individuals seeking natural alternatives to synthetic fillers.

Hair Loss
Patients experiencing thinning hair or hair loss.

Thin Skin Concerns

Clients with crepey skin or undereye hollows.

Preventative Care

People interested in early intervention against aging.

Post-Procedure Recovery

Those healing from laser or microneedling treatments.

The PRF Treatment Journey

Consultation

Personalized assessment of skin or hair concerns.

Blood Draw & Processing

Quick collection and centrifugation to create PRF.

Application

PRF is injected or applied topically with microneedling.
